Jim - Fun stuff for spectro; and in fond recollection of Danaher's questioning:

In a story headed "Secrets of Freedom" in the NYTimes of 2/21/73, C.L.Sulzberger wrote:

"Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst recently told me, 'Our laws are often taken advantage of by bureaucrats to conceal mistakes under wrongly used classification stamps.. It is necessary to define more ~~exactly~~ precisely the area of real security and then to enact specific laws to protect these; but in accordance with the First Amendment safeguards of a free press'."

Some of these words, by then said, enter a"gray area". Without the cap, happy choice!

Kleindienst in person in the extradition-papers suit, Williams in this -- and text by Kleindienst - what more can be ask?

I'd often wondered what the "G" is for. Gotta be "Goodgawd".

In all seriousness, the accumulation of such things should be helpful and persuasive, because of the record, which includes Williams and Kleindienst, and because of the very pat (no pun) way it is put in mink: the unsupported word is not enough.
